THE SOCIETY OF MECHANICS.

ITS WEALTH AND PROSPERITY.

THE GOOD WORK WHICH IT DOES IN THIS CITY-ITS CIRCULATING LIBRARY.

If a stranger should ask you about a free reading room in New-York or a free circulating library ing room in New-1072 of a life to the first impulse to answer him, perhaps, would be to point to Cooper Union. There is, however, another place just as accessible and costing just as little to its friends, though not on so large a scale, about which there is not so much known ought to be. This is the General Society chanics and Tradesmen at No. 18 West Sixteenth-st. It does not look pretentlous from the outside, nor does it when you go in, but there is an air of business and comfort and the surround are so homelike that the first time you pay a visit to the building is certain not to be the of the officials. "I never troubled myself much believe they own considerable property." Later the day ex-Mayor Hewitt, who is one of the members, furnished the information when he said that the "unearned increment" which developed the value of the real estate which the society owns it its financial stability. "I do not suppose," Hewitt, "that the twenty-two men whose ames are here carved in enduring form would was founded, to raise $1,000 in actual money $1,000,000." Mr. Hewltt said that he came across some old lines recently that proved how scarce money was in those bygone days: "Oh, cash, oh why hast thou descried the standard of lib-There is one matter in connection with the of which the ex-Mayor boasted and which "I know," said he, "that upon one occasion the almoner of this Society came to my mother's house and brought shoes, and I suppose I wore the shoes." This announcement was applauded by all those present and the ex-Mayor's features settled down into a satisfied smile.

The society was founded in 1785 and incorporated in 1792. From its original purpose, benevolence, it has broadened its scope as its income permitted. In 1820 it founded the Mechanics' School, and the Apprentices' Library; in 1833 it started an instructive course of lectures; in 1866 it added reading rooms to its library, and in 1889 instituted free scholarships in the New-York Trades School. 000 volumes, circulating a quarter of a million of books annually. Thirty thousand persons visited the reading rooms last year.

The evening classes of the school furnish free instruction to young men in free hand, mechanical, machinery and architectural drawing, cabinet decorations and clay modeling, thus materially assisting them in their daily avocations. To young women, free instruction in stenography and type-writing is given. Each winter a free course of lectures on popular subjects is given, while to encourage young men in acquiring a practical knowledge of some useful trade, the society maintains free scholarships in the New-York Trades School. The names of the officers are: John L. Hamilton, president: Warren A. Conover, vice-president, George E. Hoe, second vice-president; Richard T. Davies, treasurer, and Stephen M. Wright, sceretary.

ANXIETY AMONG POLICE OFFICIALS.

WAITING WITH EVIDENT NERVOUSNESS FOR GOVERNOR FLOWER'S ACTION.

ficials of the Police Department in this city are waiting with undisguised anxiety for the action the Governor upon the bill which, if he signs it, remove the present Commissioners from office who will be equally divided as to their political faith. The department has suffered so many critiare those who are afraid that the Governor will sign the bill. They have long combined, if reports are true, to set at naught the orders of the Supertrue, to set at naught the orders of the Super-intendent for the enforcement of the laws against Sunday liquor seiling. The Commissioners will say nothing at present, but some of their friends have been declaring that the power of Tammany Hall will be used to its utmost to induce Governor Flower to veto the bill. Some of the captains, on the other hand, have declared that the increase of power for the Superintendent was the chief thing in the bill to recommend it. One of them said yester-day:

ably would take the ground that the policy of having a partisan Police Board had been indorsed by the Governor, and he would appoint one of the Tammany leaders in Mr. MacLean's place. The board would then be practically a solid Tammany machine, and the entire police force would be at the mercy of the political organization.

AN UNDELIVERED SPEECH ON THE FREE LIST.

"Away back in the Lth Congress," said Colonel Asher Caruth at the Riggs, "I was fired with an ambition to make a tariff speech, and I contemplated talking on the free list exclusively. Then I set to work accumulating data. Of course the Mills bill was ready at hand, and it I began to con as a youth does a problem in algebra. The first item on the list bore the suggestive name of 'applitic.' When I asked Mr. Mills to tell me what it was he frankly owned up that he didn't know; he had found it on the free list as the tariff then stood, and let it etay in his own bill. He thought maybe that Mr. Randall, who had a substitute bill, could give light on applitie. Mr. Randall, with equal candor, disavowed knowing what it meant. Next I hunted up Henry Talbot, clerk of the Ways and Means Committee, but this gentleman, for a wonder, left me in darkness.

NEW ART OBJECTS AT THE MUSEUM.

THE ANNUAL SPRING CLEANING HAS BEEN MADE AND THE PICTURES OLD AND NEW WILL BE ON EXHIBITION AFTER TO-MORROW.

The Metropolitan Museum of Art, which has been closed for two weeks for the annual spring cleaning, will be opened again this week. A private view and reception will be given on Monday afternoon from 2 to 6 p. m., and the museum will be thrown open to the public as usual on Tuesday. A private view of the art collections was given to representalives of the press last evening. There are a number of new gifts and loans in the galleries.

The new gifts of pictures include "Queen Esther Before Ahasuerus," by Battista Tiepolo, given by Henry G. Marquand; "Battle Scene, Arabs Making a Detour," by Adolphe Schreyer, and "The Birth of Venus," by Alexandre Cabanel, given by John Ostade: "Dutch Interior, with Figures," by Peter de Hooge, and "Coast Scene," by John Sell Cotman, by George A. Hearn; a "Portrait of Theodore" by William T. Dannat, given by Mrs. Theo-ton" (a son-in-law of Oliver Cromwell), by Robert Walker, given by S. P. Avery.

The new loans are: "Two Men." by Eastman Johnson, loaned by the painter; "Another Martyr," by Allce Havers, loaned by Raphael Tuck & Son, and a "Portrait of John Vanderlyn," painted by himself, and given by him to Aaron Burr, loaned by Miss Ann S. Stevens.

Besides these additions, the galleries have been changed somewhat by the rehanging of many of the paintings and the weeding out of some of those which have been less esteemed.

Twenty-two cases, filled with the James A. Garland collection of Chinese porcelain, have been placed in the South Gallery, forming an interesting and attractive exhibit. These have been loaned temporarily.

There have been some rearrangement and a few iditions to the sculptured marbles on the first boor, as is also the case with the bronzes and the election of wrought-iron given to the museum by Mr. Marquand.
Everything, floors, walls and drapery, has a fresh and clean appearance, and the museum has been made much more attractive and delightful to the throngs of people who will visit it daily.

SAVED FROM OPERATING A ROAD AT A LOSS.

Topeka, Kan., May 5.-The Supreme Court to-day handed down a decision denying a peremptory writ of mandamus to compel the Dodge City, Montezoma and Trinidad Railway Company to replace its track and operate its road. The road is twenty-six miles long, extending from Dodge City to Montezuma. It has never paid expenses and has been abandoned. The promoter of the road, A. L. Soule, expended over $20,000 in building the road, but it was never operated under the original management. agement.
